It appears to be in somewhat good condition. It is just a used camera in a padded box. I like to shoot both film and digital, and these two cameras use the same lenses, which is a plus. I do a lot of photo documentation, and with a negative in hand, there is less chance to claim that something has been photoshopped. This is important in my line of research. The camera itself is a delight to use, and is light weight. The AF is flawless and very fast. The viewfinder is bright, and the mirror and shutter are relatively quiet, another important quality in my line of work. The grip provides a secure feel, again, which is important in the field. I would recommend the camera body without hesitation. The lens on the other hand is OK, but not great. I do not like lenses without a metal mounting bayonet, so I ditched the kit lens, and replaced it with the better lenses made by Canon. I want a tight, vibration free mount, and I do not trust plastic lens mounts. In all, this was a great bargain, and have already shot several rolls of film with it.

Upon further inspection, it appears to have been glued on in the first place She loves it. I have a project tomorrow and I have no idea what to do now! Considering it is a Christmas gift I don't know if it actually works right or not yet. Received camera sooner than expected, with dvd instructions and a bonus film. Seller also contacted by email providing satisfaction guarantee and to offer assistance with any questions regarding camera. Camera was in excellent condition, ready and easy to use at a great price. Highly recommend!!
